“ Hi, I am so sorry for your loss. I didn't know Davis very well but he had been fixing my computer over the years and I enjoyed talking with him. He was very good at what he did and was quite the talker. He always mentioned his girls and was proud of them. Too, I knew he was a good person, as he cared for, I believe, his mom for several years at home when she was sick. May he rest in peace and may you be comforted. God Bless, Susie

“ For the past 15 years Sue and I have shared stories of D.C. and family while he fixed numerous home computer issues. We knew him to be genuinely good person and a consummate technical computer expert. We will miss him both personally and professionally.

“ My dad was a kind man with a great sense of humor. He pushed me to be the best person I could be and instilled value in curiosity. While he was not without his flaws, he recognized them and often chuckled about them. He would hold up his left hand and remark that all his fingers were shorter by the width of the saw blade. It didn't stop him from playing the flute or clarinet and would tape popsicle sticks to his fingers. He never forgot the notes to Greensleeves and would play it for me as a kid. He was my best friend and made a lasting impression on every one who knew him. My dad is my hero.

“ Erin,

About 14 years ago, my husband's computer had a virus, so he found your father's name in the yellow pages and left to have him repair it. I told him he was nuts to take it to someone unknown he found in the phone book. When he returned home, he said, "Sue, this guy is amazing!" So, I took the first of many trips (computer in hand) to your Dad's shop. Aside from being GREAT at what he did, he was the nicest, kindest person. I met you on one of these trips, so thereafter, I always asked about you. I feel as if I know you well, when in reality we've met only a couple of times. One of the times I was there, you came into the shop offering blueberry muffins you had just made. I noticed you had a heart tattooed on your upper arm with DAD in the middle. When you left, I asked if your tattoo made him proud. He just shook his head yes; he was emotional.

Erin, you have my deepest sympathy. I know this is a terrible loss for you.
