“ Sweet Kathy-

We miss you so much already. Our boys, being best friends, spent so much time with you and we are all so heartbroken to spend our life without you. Thank you for loving my boy, Vinny so much. And rest easy knowing that I will always be watching out for Maddox with as much love as you did for Vin. Rest well, sister. Until I see you again in heaven...

Love, Kari

“ My name is Scot and I had the honor of meeting Kathy just a few months ago when she was looking for a new community for her mother aka Mombo. She lit up whatever room she walked into with her amazing personality and huge heart. I personally have never seen anything like it. She made others around her immediately have a better day than they were having at the time. One time I made the mistake of mentioning to Kathy that I liked fried chicken. The next day she brought me enough to feed our whole office. I have several examples of things like this that she did over only a few months. I will never forget the way she choose to live life. All the smiles she shared and all of her attention to others. She had such an impact on my life and taught me so many things in such a short period of time. Thank you Kathy

“ Cathy (as I knew her) was a good friend of my daughter and spent time with us on many occasions. She was so sweet and always respectful of us. This was quite a shock to our family, especially after losing her brother by cancer. I ran into Cathy about a year ago while shopping, and she was just the same friendly & sweet person as she always was around our house. I pray for her & her family. I'm sure she is in heaven with the angels as she really loved the Lord. RIP

“ Katlyn is devastated and Kathy was more than an aunt to her!! She showed up at the hospital when her son Tyler was born 2 years ago and showered her with love, flowers, home cooked meals and groceries to get through those first days of having a newborn at home. She talked to her often and always supported her no matter what. They had a special bond that was so strong!!! She will be so missed and truly God was ready for her to come and had her room prepared!! She loved the Lord so and it was evident in everything she did.
